Forth Valley GIS Ltd Relocation to new Offices

As a result of continued expansion and business growth, Forth Valley GIS Limited has moved to larger office premises in Stirling.

Following 11 highly successful years of business growth, Forth Valley GIS Ltd. was launched as a new local authority company in July 2007.

Since the launch, the company has continued to expand its business portfolio and the ongoing expansion of personnel has meant that the previous offices were too small for the growing business.

The company continues to reside in Stirling and the new offices provide a range of improved facilities for staff and customers as well as providing small conference, seminar and meeting rooms along with a dedicated IT and GIS Training suite.

The company provides a wide range of geographic information services to public sector customers and their partners across Scotland and beyond. The founding shareholders of the company are Clackmannanshire, Falkirk and Stirling Councils.

Alan Moore, Chief Executive of Forth Valley GIS said, "We are all very excited by the move to Drummond House. The modern offices provide a range of new facilities that will support growth of the company in line with the next stage of our business strategy and present a fresh, professional image to our customers and partners.”
